Satellite Symposium: Highlights of German Immunology

August 17-18, 2025 | Austria Center Vienna

Welcome Message

The German Society of Immunology (DGfI) is pleased to join the international immunology conference, IUIS2025, in Vienna. We are excited to showcase interesting achievements of German immunologists and present compelling research from our 16 different study groups covering aspects of their work. Additionally, our Young Immunologists will share their current research achievements and early career laureates will present their award-winning work.

Our satellite symposium will take place on Sunday afternoon and Monday morning just before the start of the main congress and will open to all IUIS2025-participants at no extra cost. We are proud to support the Austrian Society for Allergology and Immunology as hosts of IUIS2025 and invite everyone to enjoy fascinating DGfI research.

Prof. Dr. Hansjörg Schild, DGfI President
